Camper trailer weekend great success

The recent Australian Camper Trailer meet at Princess Royal Station saw a contingent of happy campers spend time in the area with all reports indicating a quality weekend spent.

Burra host and member of the Australian Camper Trailers Organisation, Mike Fretwell, said the meet was a great success with lots of positive feedback received.

"The camper trailer meet at Princess Royal Station over the weekend of May 19 to 20 was a great success," he said.

"Thirty people from as far away as Sydney and the Mornington Peninsula, and with a variety of 'camper rigs', attended over the full four days."

Highlights of the weekend for the group included the Burra Passport and a walk through the Red Banks Conservation Park.

Many also enjoyed spending time in the town venturing into antique shops and eateries.

Back at Camp, as the sun set, camp fires and camp oven cooking were the order of the day.

"Special thanks go to Simon Rowe and his staff at Princess Royal Station, and to the staff of the Burra Visitors' Centre," Mr Fretwell said.

"Their contribution went a very long way towards ensuring the success of the event."

This year's National Meet of the Australian Camper Trailer Organisation will be held at Wellington, New South Wales at the beginning of October 2012.
